At least, that is what we have been led to believe. Now research suggests that, far from being the Ferrari of dinosaurs, Tyrannosaurus Rex, whose ferocious reputation has fascinated generations of schoolchildren, was in fact a cumbersome creature with a usual running speed of twenty-five kilometres an hour. This is a mere snail's pace compared with modern animals such as the cheetah. Unlike some of the predators of today's African savannah, which can change direction almost immediately, the dinosaur would have had to turn slowly or risk tumbling over. And while a human can spin forty-five degrees in a twentieth of a second, a Tyrannosaurus would have taken as much as two seconds, as it would have been hampered by its long tail. Thankfully, however, all its prey, such as triceratops, would have been afflicted with the same lack of speed and agility. The findings were reached after researchers used computer modelling and biomechanical calculations to work out the dinosaur's speed, agility and weight. They based their calculations on measurements taken from a fossil dinosaur representative of an average Tyrannosaurus and concluded the creatures probably weighed between six and eight tonnes. Calculations of the leg muscles suggest that the animal would have had a top speed of forty kilometres an hour, which is nothing compared to a cheetah's one hundred kilometres an hour. It is sobering to reflect, though, that an Olympic sprinter runs at about thirty-five kilometres an hour, not sufficient to outrun a Tyrannosaurus, should Man have been around at that time! The balance sheet items of The Candy Shop (arranged in alphabetical order) were as follows at the close of the business on September 30, 2013.

$ 6,800	Furniture & Fixtures	$ 9,000
5,000	Land	72,000
80,000	Notes Payable	?
100,000	Retained Earnings	19,100
6,900	Supplies	3,000
	5,000 80,000 100,000	80,000 Notes Payable 100,000 Retained Earnings

The transactions occurring during the first week of October were:

Additional capital stock was sold for $30,000. The accounts payable were paid in Oct.3 full. (No payment was made on the notes payable.)

More furniture was purchased on account at a cost of $8,000, to be paid within 30 Oct.6 days. Supplies were purchased for $900 cash from a restaurant supply center that was going out of business. These supplies would have cost $2,000 if purchased under normal circumstances.

Revenues of $8,000 were earned and paid in cash. Expenses required to earn the Oct.1-6 revenues of $3,200 were incurred and paid in cash. Page 1 of 4

Instructions:

a. Prepare a balance sheet at September 30, 2013. (You will need to compute the missing

b. Prepare a balance sheet at October 6, 2013. Also prepare an income statement and a statement of cash flows for the period October 1-6, 2013. In your statement of cash flows, treat the purchase of supplies and the payment of accounts payable as operating activities.

Lyons Inc. provides consulting services. A few of the company's business transactions occurring during June are described below:-

1) On June 1, the company billed customers $5,000 on account for consulting services rendered. Customers are required to make full payment within 30 days.

2) On June 3, the company purchased office supplies costing $3,200, paying $800 cash and charging the remainder on the company's 30-day account at Office Warehouse. The supplies are expected to last several months.

3) On June 5, the company returned to Office Warehouse $100 of supplies that were not needed. The return of these supplies reduced by $100 the amount owed to Office

Warehouse.

- 4) On June 17, the company issued an additional 1,000 shares of capital stock at $5 per share. The cash raised will be used to purchase new equipment in September.
- 5) On June 22, the company received $1,200 cash from customers it had billed on June 1.
- 6) On June 29, the company paid its outstanding account payable to Office Warehouse.
- 7) On June 30, a cash dividend totaling $1,800 was declared and paid to the common stockholders.

Required:

- a. Record each transaction in General Journal.
- b. Post each entry to appropriate ledger accounts.
- c. Prepare a trial balance.

Claypool Hardware is the only hardware store in a remote area of northern Minnesota. Some of Claypool's transactions during the current year are a follows:-

- Nov. 5 Sold lumber on account to Bemidji Construction, $13,390. The inventory subsidiary ledger shows the cost of this merchandise was $9,105.
- Nov. 9 Purchased tools on account from Owatonna Tool Company, $3,800.
- Dec. 5 Collected in cash the $13,390 account receivable from Bemidji Construction.
- Dec. 9 Paid the $3,800 owed to Owatonna Tool Company.
- Claypool's personnel counted the inventory on hand and determined its cost to be $182,080. The accounting records, however, indicate inventory of $183,790 and a cost of goods sold of $695,222. The physical count of the inventory was observed by the company's auditors and is considered correct.

Instructions:

- a. Prepare journal entries to record these transactions and events in the accounting records of Claypool Hardware. (The company uses a perpetual inventory system.)
- b. Prepare a partial income statement showing the company's gross profit for the year. (Net sales for the year amount to $1,024,900.)
