Q.1. Attempt any three of the following questions (100-150 words): 30

Q.2. Make a précis of the following in your own English. (Credit will be given to your own words, not just copying from the question paper). Also suggest a suitable title.(20)

The growth of industrialism has coincided in the West with the growth of democracy. It is possible now, if the population of the world does not increase too fast, for one man's labour to produce much more than is needed to provide a bare subsistence for himself and his family. Given an intelligent democracy not misled by some dogmatic creed, this possibility will be used to raise the standard of life. It has been so used, to a limited extent, in Britain and America and would have been so used more effectively but for war. Its use in raising the standard of life has depended mainly upon three things: democracy, trade unionism, and birth control. All three of course, have incurred hostility from the rich. If these three things can be extended to the rest of the world as it becomes industrialized, and if the dangers of great wars can be eliminated, poverty can be abolished throughout the world, and excessive hours of labour will no longer be necessary anywhere, but without these three things, industrialism will create a regime like that in which the Pharaohs built the pyramids. In particular, if world population continues to increase at the present rate, the abolition of poverty and excessive work will be totally impossible.

An archeologist studies the past and from the evidence he can find, builds up a picture of how people lived. He is able to reconstruct the daily lives of men and women who lived thousands of years ago by studying scientifically the things which those men and women have left behind. He prepares lists and compares their weapons and tools, their pots, needles and combs, as well as the ruined homes and graves of these pre-historic people and thereby learns from these relics of the past. From the weapons he judges the size of the animals that primitive men hunted; from the tools he evaluates what crafts they had mastered; from the pots, needles, and combs he assesses the domestic skills of their wives; and from their graves and more specifically the objects found inside the graves, he understands primitive man's hopes and fears of afterlife. With the archeologist's help it is now possible to give a substantial detail of 9,000 years of history in the Middle East, and to form a reliable account of human evolution going back some half-million years.

Questions

- Suggest a suitable title.
- How does an archeologist learn about the lives of men and women who lived thousands of years ago?
- Describe in your own words some of the facts that an archeologist evaluates from the objects of the pre-historic period.
