

FOREWORD

The University of the Punjab was established in 1882 and its first Calendar published during the year 1884-85. In those days the whole of Punjab upto Delhi and Kashmir fell into its jurisdiction. Then many changes, including the division of the Province of Punjab into two parts and emergence of independent state of Pakistan in 1947 affected the geographical limits of the Punjab University.

Originally the University was set up for teaching and examinations. These two functions remained intact throughout as they are to this day. The University since its days of origin conducted all examinations including Matriculation, Intermediate, Degree and Post-graduate and various Diplomas. But as the time passed by, massive increase in population caused an increase of pressure on the University. To relieve the University of this pressure, Boards of Secondary Education were created for the conduct of the Matriculate and Intermediate examinations. Not only that, some new Universities were also set up to share responsibility of the Punjab University within their respective geographical limits.

These circumstances necessitated corresponding changes in the University Laws and Regulations. Accordingly, various editions of the University Calendar were published from time to time of which the last appeared in 1990. Since this 1990 edition, many amendments, alterations, additions and deletions in the laws pertaining to the University took place. It was in this perspective that a Calendar Committee under the Chairmanship of Dean of Law was set up by the Vice-Chancellor. The main job of the Committee was to revise the old edition of the Calendar and publish it with its revised Statutes, Rules, Regulations, etc.

Thereupon the Committee started its workings with full dedication and sincerity. Everybody throughout the University cooperated whenever requested. In this connection my deepest gratitude is due to Prof. Dr. Muhammad Zafar Iqbal, S.I., T.I., who rendered a great service to the Committee by attending all its meetings and in the proper arrangement of upto-date material of the Calendar in a fit and systematic order. In addition to that proper and regular assistance was also provided by the Secretary of the Calendar Committee, Mr. Faqir Muhammad Irfan, Deputy Registrar (Academic), Mr. Rehmat Ali Qureshi, Assistant Registrar (Statutes) and Mr. Muhammad Riaz. All of them deserve our appreciation for handling this difficult and tedious work skillfully and efficiently. It is because of their sincere effort that the compilation of this Vol. I has taken effect. Above all, my thanks are also due to all other members of the Calendar Committee for attending meetings and making the task smooth and successful.
