PUBLICATION ETHICS GUIDELINES

Authors are advised to observe the following ethical guidelines.

1. Authors submitting manuscripts to the "Ancient Punjab" should furnish a statement that the data used in the manuscripts is not fake.

2. Authors should ensure that copying tables, figures, charts or graphs from other sources are properly acknowledged coherently in the in-text and reference sections.

3. Authors should ensure that the manuscripts submitted to the "Ancient Punjab" have neither been published earlier nor are under consideration in the current and quite similar form in any other journal.

4. The manuscripts submitted to the "Ancient Punjab" will be reviewed under the blind peer review process. Upon the submission, the manuscript is sent to the expert reviewers who submit their review reports in a specific time period. Thus, authors are informed accordingly to revise, recheck and resubmit their manuscripts to complete the publication process.

5. Authors and reviewers are expected to have no potential conflict of interest.

6. Authors are ensured that the editor has all rights reserved with respect to reject or accept the manuscript.

7. Authors are advised or directed to follow APA style of referencing.

PLAGIARISM POLICY

The "Ancient Punjab" strictly follows the policy of original work. It follows zero plagiarism policy. It is the responsibility of author(s) to ensure that there is no plagiarism in the work submitted. Turnitin software is also used to determine any similarity and detect plagiarism. Similarity up to 19% is acceptable. Every author has to submit the Similarity Index Report generated by Turnitin. However, in case of any type of plagiarized work author (s) will be the sole responsible for this act. The "Ancient Punjab" will not take any responsibility regarding the plagiarism in the paper.
