8.	Introduction	This course is a compulsory course and is designed to allow International Relations students a better understanding of the conceptualization and practice of International Organizations (IO) with special attention to the dynamics of formal and informal institutions. In the first part of the course, we examine some major conceptual debates related to the motivation, formation and effectiveness of International Organizations. In the second part of the course, we apply this knowledge into specific areas of IOs.
9.	Objectives	•Surveying the contours and trajectories of International Organizations •The shift to altered forms of multilateralism – but more pluralist, self-selective, and informal •A crisis of traditional multilateralism – in the context of the Global Financial Crisis? •Connections (and disconnections) with diplomacy and global governance
