

MENTAL HEALTH INTEGRATED SERVICES

Mental health integrated services is a project by Centre for Clinical Psychology which was inaugurated by Vice Chancellor, PU, Prof. Dr. Niaz Ahmed Akhter on July 5, 2018. Mental health integrated services was established with an aim to provide affordable and efficient psychological services to the general public suffering from various psychological disorders under one roof.

Mental health integrated services, under the supervision of Director, Dr. Saima Dawood aims to provide rehabilitation services to people facing various types of traumas and psychological problems. The services provided are for varying age ranges starting as early as 2 years and extending to older age.

These services included but are not limited to providing assessment services, behavior therapy and psychological services for children with various disorders such as autism, ADHD, intellectual disability etc, psychotherapy for various adult problems such as traumas, depression, anxiety, drug related problems and psychotic disorders. In addition to these psychological services mental health integrated services also aim to cater individuals with speech problems.