University of the Punjab's Department of Zoology was established in 1921. It was then housed in the laboratories of the Government College, Lahore. In 1963, University of the Punjab shifted its Zoology Department to its New Campus, now called Quaid-i-Azam Campus. It was upgraded to The Institute of Zoology on 25th of January 2021. The Institute of Zoology (IOZ) is a discipline of life sciences, meets the need of training persons in a vast basic and interdisciplinary framework concerning Animal Sciences. The institute has earned international recognition for academic excellence and prominence in various fields of research like Cell Biology, Molecular Biology, Physiology, Developmental Biology, Entomology, Palaeontology, Parasitology and Fisheries, etc. A Zoology graduate after Master's degree or BS has a diverse experience and competence to serve or learn further in education, health, agriculture, industry and environment sectors.

Government College University Faisalabad's Department of Zoology was established in 1990 for the teaching of graduate and postgraduate courses affiliated with Punjab University, Lahore and then took a mature turn after the up-gradation of Government College Faisalabad as Government College University, Faisalabad in 2002.
